

ACT Camp 2023 Monologue Pieces

Please select, record and upload your performance of one of the following pieces. It is not necessary to memorize the monologue for your recording though you can if you would like. Feel free to put your own artistic spin on the pieces in order to tell us more about you as a performer.

MONOLOGUE ONE

O theatre, how I long to learn thine art!
In thy plays, deception and joy take part.
My heart is afire
with the desire to glean, O, e'er so more.
'Tis an insatiable fire,
that consumes me entire,
O, I do adore.
For in thy stage, the masquerades of merry may rule.
In thy vast expanse, I, my very soul, do school.
I know not where I go next; nor what I shall learn,
But I do know this for sure- my passion shall burn!
Onwards I travel where I shall see
Great plays that stage life's mystery.

MONOLOGUE TWO

Soldiers! I know fear grips your hearts as it now does mine. One day the world may break our bonds of friendship and our courage may fail us, but not today! Not this day! Today, we stand together. Today we stand for all that is dear to us, for the ones we love at home, for the ones that stand with sword and shield beside us now, for the one spark of the divine which gave us life. We stand! We stand and hold this line, and will let no devil pass. We stand to show the darkness the true strength and courage of man. Today we stand together and make our fate. Today, we show that we are more than just our fears; this day, we stand, and no force of hell or man can break our spirit!
